About the Vidyalaya Institutions

A sprawling educational complex, Sri Ramakrishna Mission Vidyalaya is spread over a pleasantly wooded area of about 300 acres situated 18 Kms from Coimbatore on the Mettupalayam road. Founded by the veteran freedom fighter and first Education Minister of Madras Province in Independent India Dr. T.S. Avinashilingam Ayya, the Vidyalaya has kept up the great tradition of rural upliftment through technological education.

Sri Ramakrishna Mission Vidyalaya College of Arts and Science is one of the Vidyalaya institutions. It was started in 1964 and has been doing useful work in the field of Higher Education. In recognition of its services to Higher Education, the University Grants Commission, granted Autonomous Status to this college in July 1981. The College is affiliated to the Bharathiar University, Coimbatore and re-accredited by NAAC with 'A' grade.

About the Department

Sophistication in every walk of life is the order of the day. To meet the ever growing requirement of business and industry, Department of Commerce and Commerce with Computer Applications were established in 2006 and 2002 respectively. The students of these departments are provided with institutional training, system project, industrial visit and project work in the emerging areas of Commerce and Commerce with Computer Applications. Departments of Commerce CA & Commerce provide internship training to the final year students at Auditors Office, in and around Coimbatore.

About the Conference

The introduction of Goods and Services Tax (GST) would be a very significant step in the field of indirect tax reforms in India. By amalgamating a large number of Central and State taxes into a single tax, it would mitigate cascading or double taxation in a major way and pave the way for a common national market. From the consumer point of view, the biggest advantage would be in terms of a reduction in the overall tax burden on goods, which is currently estimated at 25% to 30%. Introduction of the GST would also make Indian products competitive in the domestic and international markets. Studies show that this would instantly spur economic growth. This tax, because of its transparent character, would be easier to administer.

With the 101st Constitution Amendment Act came into force on 8 September 2016 and notification of the GST Council on 15 September 2016 the road to GST rollout is clear. The Government is keen on introducing the GST, the biggest indirect tax reform, with effect from 1st April 2017. The GST would be applicable on supply of goods or services as against the present concept of tax on the manufacture of goods or on sale of goods or on provision of services. It would be a 'destination-based tax' as against the present concept of 'origin based tax'. It would be a dual GST with the Centre and the States simultaneously levying it on the common base. The GST to be levied by the Centre would be called Central GST (CGST) and that to be levied by the States would be called State GST (SGST). An Integrated GST (IGST) would be levied on inter-State supply (including stock transfers) of goods or services. This would be collected by the Centre so that the credit chain is not disrupted. Import of goods or services would be treated as inter-State Supplies and would be subject to IGST in addition to the applicable customs duties. CGST, SGST & IGST would be levied at rates to be mutually agreed upon by the Centre and the States under the aegis of the GST Council (GSTC).

GST would replace the following taxes currently levied and collected by the Centre: Central Excise duty, Duties of Excise (Medicinal and Toilet Preparations), Additional Duties of Excise (Goods of Special Importance), Additional Duties of Excise (Textiles and Textile Products), Additional Duties of Customs (commonly known as CVD), Special Additional Duty of Customs (SAD), Service Tax, Cesses and surcharges insofar as far as they relate to supply of goods or services.

This national conference invites the research papers in the following major areas:

- Impact of GST on Agricultural sector
- Impact of GST on Oil and Gas
- Impact of GST on Real Estate and Infrastructure
- Impact of GST on Media and Entertainment
- Impact of GST on Retail/Consumer products
- Impact of GST on E-Commerce
- Impact of GST on Hospitality and Tourism industry
- Impact of GST on Finance Services
- Impact of GST on different States and Union Territories of the country
- Impact of GST on Common Man.

Guideline for Submission

The papers on the above themes are invited from students, research scholars, academicians, faculty members and industrialist.
